// ABOUT ME

When I was in senior high school, I started to know java, and after that I was very interested in program. After coming university, I started to learn how to program, and I started from HTML and CSS to learn. And I always study hard, do a lot of practises, write more code on the computer, and do whatever I can do. Because I am really interested in the code world. After learning web front-end skill, I started to learn UI design and interaction design. I became a freelancer during that time, and did some real project in design. This is a huge step in my experience, it's very important in my life. Finally, I hope I can make a big progress in the future.
